com, that offers certified products, information, the news and many contents that will help the consumers to take care of of their health and the one of the Medio.

ambiente.

The new vestibule is a virtual space that has a great market where certified ecological products are only sold, all a guarantee for the consumer.

Around this main axis several sections like health are vertebran, legislation, the present time, agenda of events, restaurants and prescriptions.

The ecological market is the place of encounter of producers and consumers similar to those of long ago, that is to say, each buying one visits the stores and decides in as or which want to make their purchase.

The only thing that it has to do is to register itself as usuary and to begin the visit.

Today east market with a great variety of stores is opened that will increase in the next days.

At the moment already there is sweet and salty fruits and vegetables, oils, sauces and condimentos, appetizers, coffees and infusions, meats and inlays, conserves, patés and prepared plates, macrobiótica, flours, bread and baker's shop.

Great elenco nutritional that practically offers of everything to those who visits www.

The ecological feeding, a good for the health and the Medio.

ambiente ecological agriculture has been experimenting for some years a strong world-wide scale expansion, leaving the small groups of producers and exporting themselves to the great consumer.

Spain has not been other people's to the positive evolution of this sector and occupies one of the first positions in terms of surface and number of operators.

The reasons to impel this production system are multiple.

He is unquestionable which the greater assets of the ecological production are in its sustainability, by the integration of environmental objectives in the farming production.

Neither it is contaminated nor spill to the Earth certain remainders, in addition the power saving is superior to the one of the production culture.

Also other advantages related to the health of the consumers, since the ecological products are vital foods that maintain all their gustativas and nutritious qualities and balances in vitamins and minerals original, rich and, most important, free of artificial substances like chemical, colorantes and conservantes remainders exist.

This absence of conservantes or additives of chemical origin, allows that products do not arrive at the organism certain that can be dangerous for the health.

When not presenting/displaying these components, the organism assimilates of optimal form the nutrients of these foods.

To be dealt with pesticidas does not allow, besides to avoid that our organism becomes a warehouse of toxic remainders and we pruned to develop a certain cancer, the incidence of allergies related to certain chemical agents.

The animals also are fed with leguminosas cereals and coming from Ecological Agriculture and deal with natural methods.

As a result of the respect to the vital necessities of the cattle in the daily life one favors the health of the animals and, consequently, the quality of the products that are obtained from them.

Perhaps some foods coming from agriculture and ecological cattle ranch do not have "a perfect" aspect so as those of another type of less sustainable cultures, but what is unquestionable it is the great flavor of these foods, that in addition are not only much more nutritious but that they present/display greater contents of vitamins and minerals.

By all it, Ecological Agriculture puts to the service of the man all the qualities and properties of the nature through the most healthful foods.

A form of natural, ecological life, heals and respectful with the means that, thanks to the launching of the vestibule www.
